Vision for the Los Angeles City Planning Commission

Join us to hear from David Ambroz, the President of the City Planning Commission. David will share his vision for the future of planning in Los Angeles. Right now, there is unprecedented interest in development in the city, as evidenced by multiple ballot initiatives. Mayor Garcetti and the City Council are also moving forward with a comprehensive planning effort to update the General Plan Framework and the community plans. CCA members are encouraged to engage in this conversation in order to positively shape Los Angeles' future.

Special Guest: David Ambroz, City Planning Commission Small Lot Subdivision Update

In response to various City Council motions, City Planning has drafted updates to the Small Lot Subdivision ordinance. The ordinance was adopted in 2005 as a way to encourage infill development and has produced thousands of units across the city. The update seeks to implement lessons learned over the past ten years and is pending at the City Planning Commission. CCA members are invited to learn what this update could mean for the development of small lots and to give your comments on it.
